President’s Welcome

Welcome, everyone, to Calgary and to ACCUTE’s fifty-ninth conference! I honestly cannot believe Dalhousie’s two years of hosting ACCUTE have passed—it feels like it’s been only twenty... Kidding (?) aside, the ACCUTE Board of Directors, our Campus Representatives, and our membership as a whole have together accomplished a lot in the past two years. Not only is ACCUTE now officially incorporated, we have also revived our membership directory; held a successful membership drive (thanks to the tremendous help of our Campus representatives); completed the first stage of our electronic newsletter archive; found fabulous new president and vice-president nominees in Manina Jones and Madeline Bassnett (UWO); and (as of this writing) the Board is working diligently to finalize a new home for our journal, ESC: English Studies in Canada (more on this when I offer my thanks, below).

And, of course, there are the conferences, and this one looks to continue ACCUTE’s six-decade-long tradition of excellent and ground-breaking scholarship. In addition to approximately 80 panels, and hundreds of papers, we have again been extremely fortunate in our plenary speakers, Christine Bold (Guelph) and Stephanie LeMenager (Oregon). In addition, we are excited and humbled by our participation in the Sharing the Land, Sharing a Future event, co-hosted by ACCUTE, the Canadian Federation for Humanities and Social Sciences, and several other associations, in recognition of the release of the Truth and Reconciliation Report and the 20th anniversary of the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples. With a plenary address by Cindy Blackstock (First Nations Child and Family Caring Society of Canada, and member of the CFHSS Board of Directors), this event will take place on Wednesday, 1 June 9:00am to 12:00pm (Taylor Institute 160). It includes a panel featuring Deanna Reder (SFU), representing ACCUTE and the Indigenous Literary Studies Association, and further ACCUTE representation from Linda Morra (Bishop’s) and Manina Jones. I hope many of you can stay for this event.

In addition to these important events, I also want to remind everyone of our social events! Don’t forget the annual ESC Bash and what I’m calling the “It’s not dead yet!” Dance Party—nearly vanished for the year due to all sorts of problems I will happily harangue you about if asked, it was resuscitated at the last minute thanks to our Calgary Congress hosts, who decided to allow a Congress-hosted dance at the Den & Black Lounge on Campus. And please do attend our Annual General Meeting (Monday May 30, 3:30-5:00, in the Hotel Alma Senate Room): this meeting is open to all ACCUTE members, and the future incarnations of ACCUTE depend upon your active participation: we will be electing new Board members (including our new president and vice president), and covering other important issues. If that’s not tempting enough, then immediately following our AGM, we will have our Celebration of Research, at which we will award this year’s Priestley Prize (with special thanks to the Broadview Press and the University of Calgary Department of English for sponsoring this event). Did I mention the free snacks and libations? No? Well, you’ll have to come to find out about them.

So, yes, we have what promises to be a wonderful conference ahead of us! What remains for me now are only the bittersweet and sincere thanks I have for everyone who has made the past two years the success they have been (and certainly any less-than-successful moments rest with yours truly!). I’ll offer more detailed thanks in my final newsletter piece, but for now let me say that we all owe a significant debt of gratitude to Mike O’Driscoll and Mark Simpson, as co-editors of ESC, and their full team, including Laura Schechter. I personally owe all of them for their help with the incorporation process, but of course the journal’s intellectual success has been echoed by its excellent management, which has financed ACCUTE’s continuing health. The Alberta team has another year at the helm, and I expect us all to turn out in numbers next year in Toronto to fête their enormous success with our journal, and to toast the new editorial team.

I also want to thank everyone who has served on ACCUTE’s Board of Directors over the past few years, as well as many of its past presidents and vice presidents, who have so generously offered their advice and support. I wouldn’t have accepted the presidency without Lyn Bennett’s willingness to serve as ACCUTE’s vice president, and I thank her for all she’s done, especially the work of the conferences, which seemed to me each year to be arranged as if by magic! I also want to thank our RA, Brittany Kraus, who put in tremendous effort on several tasks this year. Finally, Lyn, I, and ACCUTE as a whole will continue well beyond this year to owe our beyond-excellent coordinator, Lynne Evans, more thanks than I can express. Her skilful and dedicated work on each and every aspect of the ACCUTE operation has helped us all in ways that the association will continue to appreciate in years to come.

Of course, I want to thank you, all of ACCUTE’s members, for your continued dedication not just to our collective endeavours here, but also to improving our scholarly and professional work across Canada and beyond. (And a final thanks to David Bowie and Prince, who helped me write this piece.)

Christine Bold (Guelph), Indigenous Modernities: From Wild West to Vaudeville

Dr. Bold is Professor in the School of English and Theatre Studies at the University of Guelph. She is author and editor of six books and numerous chapters and articles on popular print culture, cultural memory, violence against women, and the 1930s. Recently, The Frontier Club: Popular Westerns and Cultural Power, 1880-1924 (Oxford University Press, 2013) won the 2014 Thomas J. Lyon Book Award in Western American Literary and Cultural Studies (sponsored by the Western Literature Association), the 2014 Robert K. Martin Prize for Best Book (sponsored by the Canadian Association for American Studies), and was a CHOICE "Outstanding Academic Title" of 2013. As a member of the Cultural Memory Group, a collaboration between academics and social justice workers, she coauthored the award-winning Remembering Women Murdered by Men: Memorials across Canada (Sumach Press, 2006). Her current project, on “Vaudeville Indians,” is supported by the Eccles Centre at the British Library, the Harry Ransom Center at the University of Texas-Austin, the Charles Redd Center for Western Studies at Brigham Young University, and SSHRC. http://www.uoguelph.ca/sets/sets-christine-bold

Abstract: My talk will focus on Indigenous and non-Indigenous performers who “played Indian” (in Cherokee scholar Rayna Green’s and Dakota historian Philip Deloria’s formulation) on global circuits of vaudeville, variety, and Variété between the 1880s and 1930s. My argument is that, if we pursue “Indian” presences in vaudeville-variety, we come to Indigeneity hiding in plain sight at the heart of modernity. This project is part of what Deloria has called the “secret history” of Native peoples making popular culture—and, more broadly, Indigenous modernities. For a non-Native scholar (such as myself) to contribute to this recovery effort means developing the archive, analysis, and outcomes according to what are often called “the four R’s” of Indigenous Research Methodologies: Respect, Reciprocity, Relationality, and Responsibility. I aim to present some of these “vaudeville Indians” in their transnational, trans-Indigenous, intersecting circuits in the late-nineteenth and early-twentieth centuries: some or all of Seneca performer Go-won-go Mohawk in the US and the UK; the Deer family (Mohawk) across Canada, the US, and western and eastern Europe; Princess Chinquilla (who identified as Cheyenne) across eastern and western US, on to Hawai‘i, Aotearoa New Zealand, and Fiji; and the non-Native German trick cyclist Chester Dieck in Europe and the US.

PLENARY SPEAKER

Stephanie LeMenager, "The Humanities in the Era of Climate Change"

Dr. LeMenager is Barbara and Carlisle Moore Professor of English and Professor of Environmental Studies at the University of Oregon. Her publications include the books Living Oil: Petroleum Culture in the American Century, Manifest and Other Destinies and (as co-editor) Environmental Criticism for the Twenty-First Century. Her forthcoming books include (as co-editor) Teaching Climate Change in the Humanities and Weathering: Toward a Sustainable Humanities. She is a founding editor of Resilience: A Journal of the Environmental Humanities.

Abstract: LeMenager’s lecture asks how the environment in the age of global climate change has affected what it means to be human, what is meant by Humanism, and what kinds of objects and practices the Humanities assume in order to remain ecologically and institutionally viable. The development of the Environmental Humanities acts a case study for the Humanities’ broad ecological relevance in the era of climate change.

- Roxanne Harde (U Alberta)
- Jan Newberry (U Lethbridge); Amy Mack (U Lethbridge); Taylor Little Mustache (U Lethbridge)
- Melissa Tremblay (Program Evaluator, Dept. of Pediatrics, U Alberta); Lola Baydala (Dept. of Pediatrics, U Alberta); and Natasha Rabbit (Nehiyaw Kakeskewina Learning Society)

Chairs: Kristine Alexander (U Lethbridge), Erin Spring (U Lethbridge)

Description:
Using survivors’ stories and archival research, the recently released Executive Summary and Final Reports of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission of Canada (TRC) documents the violence and mistreatment endured by the 150,000 Indigenous children and youth who were sent to residential schools between the late nineteenth and late twentieth centuries. These texts also highlight the resilience of First Nations, Métis, and Inuit young people, and they call on the state, universities, museums, archives, and SSHRC to do a better job of teaching and researching with and about Indigenous communities and knowledge. This interdisciplinary roundtable is a response to the TRC’s Calls to Action. It brings together scholars who conduct research about and with Indigenous young people, cultures, and communities. The roundtable will foster dialogue and exchange between researchers working in these fields from across the social sciences and humanities.
3:15 – 4:45 PM

Roundtable: At the Intersections of “Queer” and “Youth”

- Jordan Fischer (U Calgary)
- Isabelle Groenhof (U Calgary)
- Andrea Oakunsheyld (U Calgary)
- Meredith Snyder (U Alberta)
- Joshua Whitehead (U Calgary)

Chair: Derritt Mason (U Calgary)
Respondent: Nat Hurley (U Alberta)

Description:
This roundtable features early career academics exploring how queerness and youth are represented and theorized in a range of multimedia texts. Presenters will offer short papers on a range of topics including: queer punk music and utopia; queer spaces in Shakespeare; fat bodies and Disney fan fiction; queer happiness and young adult memoir; and the relationship between horror film and queer youth subjectivity. Ultimately, this roundtable aims to contribute to a growing scholarly conversation that thinks queerness through and alongside youth cultures, communities, and texts.

*ACCUTE members are welcome to attend any and all CLSG sessions
The President, Jason Haslam, called the meeting to order.

1. Approval of Agenda
Jason noted a change in the order of items in the previously circulated agenda: the Vice President’s Report (item 6), and the Financial Report (item 7) will be presented in reverse order. Motion to approve the agenda. Moved by Craig Patterson, seconded by Karen Macfarlane. Motion passed unanimously.

2. SSHRC Presentation
Sarah Nicholls provided a brief presentation on recent changes to SSHRC documentation and grants.

3. Approval of Minutes (2014 AGM)
Nicola Nixon asked why the 2014 AGM Minutes recorded two members as nominees for Member-at-Large positions, yet only one position was filled. Jason responded that there was only one position available, and that a vote was held at the 2014 AGM to determine which member would fill the position.

Motion to approve the 2014 AGM Minutes. Moved by Judith Hertz, seconded by Laura Schechter. Motion passed unanimously.

4. Matters Arising
Jason said he would deal with some matters arising in his report, and asked if there were any other items. There were no Matters Arising from the 2014 AGM Minutes.

5. President’s Report (Jason Haslam)
Before beginning his report, Jason noted that Lynne Evans, ACCUTE Coordinator, would present the Financial Report because of her financial background.

Jason indicated that the Executive planned to take on 1) constitutional reform; 2) executive insurance; and 3) finances, specifically thinking about membership numbers, revenues and expenses. He noted that these items focused on ACCUTE’s health and strength.

Jason explained that as the Executive was getting started on those items, several issues arose that led the Executive to investigate incorporating ACCUTE as a registered not-for-profit. He stated that the Executive would be recommending the move to incorporated status later in this meeting, and that if that motion is supported, many of the previous items would be taken care of, though item 3 is an ongoing one.

Jason then provided a chronology of events leading up to the Executive’s recommendation that ACCUTE incorporate. He stated that in November, ESC was informed by their digital aggregators that it needed to complete a W-8BEN form since it earned royalties through an American publisher, which the US government considered US income, and therefore potentially subject to US taxes. If ESC did not pay US taxes, then the US government could withhold up to 30% of ESC royalties in lieu of taxation. Journals across Canada started receiving these forms from US aggregators.

Jason stated that this issue was a significant concern for ESC’s operating budget, but also for ACCUTE’s, since for the past few years ESC had transferred some of its finances back to ACCUTE. These transfers helped ACCUTE maintain the conference and its operations, including the travel fund, as well as to create a bit of a financial buffer for lean times.

Jason explained that Mike O’Driscoll turned to ACCUTE as the owner and publisher of ESC. In consultation with the Executive, the Halifax office determined that ACCUTE should not sign this tax filing without having an accountant and lawyer look into ACCUTE’s status. This process was detailed in the newsletters this year.

Jason then summarized what the Executive learned in the past year:

What We Learned

1. ACCUTE needed to officially incorporate as a registered not-for-profit entity. Why?
a. Directors Liability and Errors and Omissions Insurance: ACCUTE should incorporate to purchase this coverage, and the Executive unanimously believed that this insurance was a necessary safe-guard. The Executive made this determination based on past experience with Robertson v. Pro-Quest, and given that ACCUTE/ESC can no longer be considered a hand-to-mouth operation: the combined entity has significant revenues on the ESC side. The Executive was especially concerned about Graduate and CAF Executive members, who may not be able to rely on institutional legal support.

b. W8-BEN: While ACCUTE could have signed this form without incorporating, doing so could open the Association up to questions regarding ACCUTE’s status; if the Association did not sign the form, it stood to lose thousands of dollars in revenue.

c. Because of ESC’s royalties, ACCUTE is legally obliged to file tax forms with CRA. Incorporation makes that process less of a problem: it says “this group is a not-for-profit” up front.

Where We Are

1. To protect both Board members and the future of ACCUTE, for the reasons above, the Executive took the following steps:
   a. ACCUTE filed information forms with Canada Revenue for the 2013-14 year, which we were legally obliged to do.
   b. Following that, the Executive felt it had done enough due diligence to sign the W8-BEN form (changed to a W8-BEN-E form); but, part of that due diligence came from our next step:

2. The Executive has created an incorporated ACCUTE, but...
   a. This “new” ACCUTE is largely an empty vessel right now; “ACCUTE Classic” is still what we’re operating as today;
   b. In order to purchase director’s liability and errors and omission insurance; and in order to properly function as a registered not-for-profit; and in order for the Executive to feel confident in its proper management of ACCUTE, we need to move “ACCUTE Classic” into “New ACCUTE.”

Jason emphasized that the Executive unanimously and strenuously believes that we have to incorporate both in order to fulfill our legal obligations, and to ensure ACCUTE’s immediate and future financial health.

What does incorporation mean for the Membership?

1. Every significant element of ACCUTE that members see and do will stay the same
   a. Members will see a slightly different financial statement, but followed up with the same format we’ve used for years
   b. Members will have to vote on the Board appointing a public accountant (which ACCUTE used to have until the 1980s, anyway)
   c. Jason asked the membership not to misconstrue the phrase “corporate” in “incorporation”: this is about “making ACCUTE a body”: moving ACCUTE from legally being a collection of individuals to legally being a community that works together to further its goals.

What does incorporation mean for the Executive?

1. We all still perform the same functions we always did, and have the ability to change those as we always have
2. ACCUTE will now have a Board of Directors, not an Executive of Officers
3. There will be some new yearly paperwork (Canada Revenue forms; updating list of directors with government and insurers)

Jason noted that there will be new expenses (insurance; filing; small fee to have lawyers manage mailings) for ACCUTE. The Executive estimates these to be as follows:

2014-15:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Description</th>
<th>Amount</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Accounting Fees for year ended June 30th, 2015</td>
<td>$2,501</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Legal Fees for year ended June 30th, 2015</td>
<td>$2,218</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Total for year ended June 30th, 2015</td>
<td>$4,719</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
2015-16:
Accounting Fees for year ended June 30th, 2016: $2,500
Legal Fees for year ended June 30th, 2015: $2,000
Insurance (based on $2 million and including tax): $1,345
Total projected for year ended June 30, 2016: $5,845

Future:
Accounting fees: ca. $2500
Legal fees: ca. < $1000
Insurance: ca. $1,345
Total: ca. $4845 (less if legal fees are lower, more if insurance rates change)

Jason then explained the rationale behind the projected costs, based on this year’s experience.

Our mandate
What about the Constitution? How does incorporation affect it?

1. The functions of the Constitution are now filled by “Articles of Incorporation” and “Bylaws”
2. Because the constitution was already in need to corrections and updating, some of the changes the Executive believed had to be made to the constitution have been used for the new documents, and that includes slight changes to the mandate. “English language and literatures” is changed to “the various fields of English Studies”; “by mediating disputes between members and institutions” has been struck because that is not a mandate ACCUTE can fulfill; “the interests of members before provincial and federal decision-making and funding bodies” is changed to “promoting the scholarly and research interests of members before such bodies as provincial and federal granting agencies” to better reflect the intent.
3. Other bylaws, which were circulated online in advance, allows ACCUTE to continue functioning exactly as it has in the past, and allows for growth in the future.

Jason noted that he would move the motion on behalf of the Executive, and then open up time for discussion. He noted that since the motion was coming from the Executive, it did not require a seconder.
Motion: RECITALS
A. The Association of Canadian College and University Teachers of English (ACCUTE) has carried on its not-for-profit activities as an unincorporated association; and
B. It was considered advisable and in the best interests of the members of the organization to continue the activities of the organization as a not-for-profit corporation under the Canada Not-for-profit Corporations Act;

NOW UPON MOTION, IT IS RESOLVED that the resolutions in the form circulated with the materials distributed in advance of the meeting and identified as Schedule "A" be adopted as resolutions of the members (Appendix 1).

Discussion:
Anne Quema asked if the Incorporation would be in effect immediately.

Jason responded that the “new ACCUTE” would start June 30, 2015.

Craig Monk noted that he was involved with a journal that went through a similar process of incorporation in the United States, and that the Association in question was denied not-for profit status.

Jason responded that ACCUTE now exists as an incorporated not-for profit, and so has already avoided that problem; we are now voting to move the unincorporated entity into the incorporated entity.

Deborah Bowen thanked Jason and the Executive for its work on incorporation.

Jason called for a vote on the motion. Motion passed unanimously.

Jason thanked the membership for its support on behalf of the Executive. He specifically thanked Lynne Evans for her work on the incorporation process. He noted that ACCUTE owes Evans a debt of gratitude, and thanked Lyn Bennett for her work on the conference.

Lynne noted that it had been a busy year in terms of the financial management of ACCUTE. As discussed by Jason at the AGM, in the past year
ACCUTE’s Executive needed to file information returns for both the US Revenue Agency and the Canadian Revenue Agency. These filings, along with liability insurance applications to protect ACCUTE and its Executive members, required the services of an outside accountant to assist in creating ACCUTE/ESC financial statements.

Lynne commented that ACCUTE always kept financial records, but these records did not always reflect standard practice in the accounting world, so the Executive needed to institute some changes to the way ACCUTE offices account for the organization’s financial operations. For the most part, these new procedures are quite straightforward, and will be outlined in ACCUTE’s operations manual.

As part of the transition to standard accounting practice, the Executive decided to change ACCUTE’s annual fiscal year-end from May 31 to June 30. Most of ACCUTE’s expenses are tied to its annual conference, and so a June year-end allows conference expenses and revenues each year to be more easily recorded in the correct fiscal period.

Lynne presented the combined ACCUTE and ESC Statement of Operations for the period July 1, 2013 to June 30, 2014, which showed total revenue from joint operations to be $103,304. She noted that at the year end the combined operation had retained earnings of $112,772. Lynne then presented the Statement of Financial Position, which recorded the assets of liabilities for the same period. Lynne noted that one of the significant changes to ACCUTE’s accounting policy, in accordance with standardized accounting practice, is to separate revenues and expenses – operating numbers – from our net worth. The Statement of Financial Position indicated that the combined assets for the ACCUTE/ESC operations ending June 30, 2014 were just under $150,000, and that ESC held the bulk of assets;

Lynne then presented the ACCUTE-only financial results (excluding ESC operations) (Appendix 2).

Lynne explained that the Statement of Operations answers the question of how ACCUTE is doing on a stand-alone basis, as if ESC did not exist. The statement shows a projected operational loss of $7,303 for the year ending June 30, 2015. She noted that this did not mean that ACCUTE has no money! Thanks to the strong financial management of the Alberta office, as well as ESC transfers to ACCUTE, ACCUTE had almost $20,000 in retained earnings at the end of 2014, and expects to have over $48,000 in the bank at the end of June 2015.
Lynne commented that revenue appears to be relatively stable on the Statement of Operations; however, member dues are down 5%. The deficiency in revenue for the year ending June 2015 was largely made up for with increased conference sponsorships. The operating loss for the upcoming year-end is mostly due to increased expenses, many of which are beyond the Executive’s control.

Lynne then presented the ACCUTE-only Statement of Financial Position. She explained that this statement reports ACCUTE’s year-end net worth. ACCUTE had $36,000 in the bank at June 30, 2014, but it also had $33,000 of outstanding liabilities. So, unencumbered cash in the Chequing Account was approximately $3,000. The Executive expects the Chequing Account balance to be just over $5,500 at the end of June 2015. The change in the Savings Account balance of $11,419 at June 2014 to $38,145 at June 2015 is due to ESC transfers to ACCUTE. ESC transferred $20,000 to ACCUTE in July 2014, $12,000 in April 2015, and $4,719 in June 2015.

Lynne ended her report by noting that ACCUTE currently has a strong net worth. The Association should have just over $48,000 in assets at the end of June 2015. ACCUTE’s current-day financial health is directly attributable to ESC support of ACCUTE operations.

Jason noted that ACCUTE faces a long-term financial pattern that is cause for concern. Over time, ACCUTE’s total revenues have been decreasing while ACCUTE expenses have been increasing. He noted that the Executive is considering a number of options to help ensure longer-term financial health of the Association.

Motion to accept the Financial Report. Moved by Craig Patterson, seconded by Nicola Nixon. Motion passed unanimously.

7. Vice President’s Report (Lyn Bennett)
Lyn reviewed 2014 and 2015 membership numbers, as well as their breakdown by employment status and professorial rank and by the current income-based fee structure. She then presented the following motion to change ACCUTE’s current fee structure from income-based to a fee structure by employment status and academic rank.

Jason noted that since the report was put forward by the Executive, there was no need of a seconder on a motion to accept the report.

Motion: That ACCUTE membership fees be charged on the basis of the member’s employment status and professorial rank, and that fees for those categories be as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Fee</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A. Graduate Students, Part-Time Contract Academic Faculty, Other</td>
<td>$45</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B. Post-Docs</td>
<td>$65</td>

<tr>
<td>C. Contract Academic Faculty (Full-Time)</td>
<td>$85</td>

<tr>

<tr>
<td>E. Assistant Professor / College Faculty (Full-Time)</td>
<td>$125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F. Associate Professor</td>
<td>$150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. Professor</td>
<td>$160</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A discussion ensued about the fee categories. A proposed amendment to the motion that Category E also include Permanent Instructors was moved by Nicky Didicher and seconded by Anne Quema. Motion passed.

A proposed amendment to the motion that fees for Category G be changed to $175 was moved by Anne Quema and seconded by Julia Wright. In discussion, Nicola Nixon noted some concern that this amount would alienate full professors. Motion passed.

Jason called for a vote on the motion as amended:

Motion: That ACCUTE membership fees be charged on the basis of the member’s employment status and professorial rank, and that fees for those categories be as follows:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Fee</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A. Graduate Students, Part-Time Contract Academic Faculty, Other</td>

<td>$125</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F. Associate Professor</td>
<td>$150</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>G. Professor</td>
<td>$175</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Motion carried.

Jason proposed a motion to extend the meeting by 10 minutes. Motion passed unanimously.

Lyn then briefly reviewed conference participation data for the ACCUTE Conference held at Congress 2015, and mentioned some changes the organizers are considering for Congress 2016 that might increase attendee numbers and membership.

Judith Herz noted that a cohort of 61 full professors in ACCUTE was a pathetic number.

Jason stated that the Executive will be sending out the Linda Hutcheon recruitment letter used by previous offices to try to address this problem.

Mike extended his thanks to the ACCUTE Executive, and particularly the Halifax office, for their work on the process of incorporation.

O’Driscoll noted a couple of changes to the ESC team. Laura Schechter, former ACCUTE coordinator, is now the ESC Coordinator. Cecily Devereux moved from Associate Editor to Reviews Editor, which is her fourth position with ESC in the past 13 years. O’Driscoll noted that ESC couldn’t do what it does without Cecily’s assistance.

Mike also expressed his thanks to the five outgoing members of the ESC editorial board, Jill Matus, Gerry Turcotte, Robert Miles, Nicholas Hudson, and George Elliott Clarke. Mike noted that both he and Mark Simpson have been working on replenishing the ESC Board.

Mark offered an overview of ESC publications and submission figures. He noted that there has been a drop in submissions over the past year. He commented that last year’s unusually high number of submissions was sparked by Nat Hurley’s CFP for her special issue on “Childhood and its Discontents.”

Jason proposed a motion to extend the meeting for another ten minutes. Passed unanimously

Motion to accept the ESC report. Moved by Lily Cho, seconded by Judith Hertz. Motion passed unanimously.

Jason thanked ESC for their work, and noted that ACCUTE would not be able to continue without the support of ESC.

Jason asked for a number of reports from the floor.
9. Report of Priestly Prize Committee (Lisa Surridge)
Lisa Surridge reported that the Priestly Prize winner would be announced at the Celebration of Research. She thanked the committee members for all their work.

10. Report of the Committee for Professional Concerns (Lily Cho)
Lily Cho provided the CPC report, and noted that professional concerns have become a major concern for ACCUTE members. Cho offered her thanks to ACCUTE and the CPC committee for its work.

Haslam noted that there were a number of excellent CPC panels at this year’s conference.

11. Report of the Contract Academic Staff Representative (Jason Haslam)
Jason presented the CAF report. He noted that the CAF Executive member, Erin Wunker, had a baby a week ago (and a new book out). He noted that Erin had done a lion’s job this year. She has been working and writing for Rabble, Hook and Eye, and wrote a CAF related article – “I See You” – that received over 15,000 hits. Jason commented that Erin has done tremendous work, and has gone to Canadian Centre for Policy Services to do a national data-gathering project to determine how many post-secondary teachers are CAFs. Jason asked for a round of applause for Erin’s work.

12. Report of the Graduate Student Caucus (Nico Dicecco)
Nico Dicecco noted that the Graduate Caucus had a very successful annual meeting, with a great turnout. The Caucus elected Elissa Gurman as its incoming president, and Kala Hirtle for its President-Elect.

Jason asked the membership to accept the reports as a whole. Moved by Steven Bruhm, seconded by Marjorie Stone. Motion passed unanimously.

Jason extended his thanks to outgoing ACCUTE President, Stephen Slemon; Jason commented that Stephen was a tireless President whose support helped to get things done.

13. Election of New Members to the Executive Committee (Jason Haslam)
Jason asked the membership to vote on two Executive nominees:

- The Executive nominated Veronica Austen (St. Jerome’s) as Member-at-large
- The Executive nominated Laura Robinson (RMC) as Member-at-large
Julia Wright asked for clarification about how many positions were open.

Jason responded that there were two positions open.

Jason asked three times for further nominations. There being none, Jason called for a vote on the Executive nominations. The nominations passed unanimously.

Jason noted that the Board has a nominee for President; however, that individual is in negotiations with her/his University. He stated that the Executive was only days away from announcing the name of this individual. As a Point of order, Jason asked the membership to postpone nomination of President until the Executive knows that the nominee has institutional support. Once the nominee is firmed up, the Board will bring the nominee in as a guest Board member. He noted that the Board may attempt to arrange a membership vote on the candidate prior to the next AGM, but that the task was complicated due to the fact that the vote must be anonymous. Jason advised that the Board will keep the membership up-to-date as the process moves forward, and asked if there were any questions or concerns?

Judith Herz commented that she thought the MLA allowed online voting.

Jason noted that online voting might be a problem given that ACCUTE has to follow the rules of voter anonymity that pertain to incorporated entities.

14. Report of the President of CACE (Bryce Traister)
Bryce noted that twenty-five department Heads attended this year’s annual CACE meeting. The meeting focused on four main topics: Faculty and student mental health issues, falling enrolments in English literature programs, departmental challenges with respect to faculty retirements, and the consequences of prioritization reviews in English departments.

Motion to accept the CACE report. Moved by Mike O’Driscoll, seconded by Karen Macfarlane. Motion passed unanimously.

15. AOB
Jason asked for any other business. There was none.

16. Motion to Adjourn
Moved by Judith Hertz, seconded by Noreen Golfman. Motion passed unanimously. Meeting adjourned.

B. The members of ACCUTE have always carried on their activities as an unincorporated not-for-profit association.

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED AS FOLLOWS:

Eighteenth-Century Fiction (ECF) is an international, peer-reviewed quarterly devoted to the critical and historical investigation of literature and culture of the period 1660-1832. Recognizing the fluid notions of fiction within the period, as well as the growing body of interdisciplinary work by scholars in the field, the ECF editors seek submissions that conceive of “fiction” in its broader sense and expand the frameworks of critical, historical, and theoretical discussion.

Mosaic, a journal for the interdisciplinary study of literature

Forthcoming Publications

COLLECTED “CROSSINGS” INTERVIEWS 50.1 (Mar. 2017) This special issue gathers between two covers all of the “Crossings” interviews that Mosaic has featured since 2001. The issue is part of Mosaic’s year-long 50th-anniversary celebration.

LETTERS 50.3 (Sep. 2017) This issue examines the theme of philosophy’s, literature’s, or any other discipline’s, letters. Traditionally, letters have been regarded as “non-serious” or at least as superfluous to the critical enterprise proper (consider Kant’s division of Plato the letter-writer from Plato the philosophical father). But can letters themselves be considered critical forays and/or keys to the inheritance of scholarly work? Might letters put the serious/non-serious opposition into question?

Recent Publications

A matter of lifedeath Conference Proceedings I-III 48.2, 48.3, 48.4 (June, Sep., Dec. 2015) The proceedings issues feature keynote lectures given by Françoise Dastur and Elisabeth Weber and selected papers presented by participants. Together the essays reflect the conference’s engagement with questions of life and death in ways that avoid reductive gestures and exceed oppositions between animate and inanimate, human and animal, presence and absence, the humanities and the sciences, the living and the dead.
